

School Committee Student Representatives

The role of student representatives in the Faculty of Arts includes seeking out, listening to and bringing forward concerns, issues, and feedback from students to the school committee meetings. Representatives also ensure that faculty decisions and policies are communicated back to students.

Details of our student representatives are below.

School of History & Politics

Undergraduate : Adam Rozadilla - ar882@uow.edu.au

2nd Year: Brittany Reeves - br968@uow.edu.au

I am a 2nd year student studying a Bachelor of Arts (Dean's Scholars), with a major in history and military history, as well as medieval/early modern literature, and after graduating, I aim to complete a Graduate Diploma in Secondary Education. I work part-time in retail and am passionate about my job with PASS (Peer Assisted Study Sessions) Program at UOW as a leader in AUST101 and AUST102.

3rd Year: Jennifer Burgess – jmb107@uow.edu.au

I intend to graduate at the end of 2009 with a Bachelor of Arts majoring in Politics and Philosophy. I have a desire to go onto to do Honours and postgraduate studies. I work 4 days a week in an administration and part sales role with an Australian company which involves working with and speaking to engineers and others who work in industry. I have a passion for knowledge and, as well as those subjects I have already mentioned, I am interested in English, psychology and economics. As part of my graduate studies I hope to learn French. I believe in democratic participation, and I greatly encourage anyone to email me with suggestions, ideas or problems that you are encountering within your politics or history subjects.

Honours: Lauren Mason - ljm332@uow.edu.au

I am currently studying Honours in politics and am really enjoying it. I graduated in December last year with a major in Politics and realized that I wanted to study further at University. Undertaking Honours has not only been an enormous challenge, it has also allowed me to explore my passions a little more deeper and given me the chance to research something I am really interested in. As a politics student, I was subject to a lot of frustrating facts about the world, particularly about the state of the developing world. This frustration drove me to pursuing research in this area and for my Honours thesis I will be attempting to explain challenges to development of East Timor as a Post-conflict State.

Postgraduate: Debbie Jensen - dlj02@uow.edu.au

I am in the final stages of my PhD thesis in the School of History & Politics. I am interested in the development of what many have characterized as a ‘neo-conservatism’ in Australia and how this ‘ism’ developed over time in the journal Quadrant. I have worked as a tutor in Australian Politics, Media and Politics and Culture, and have worked in Arts Central casually for a number of years. Please feel free to contact me if you have any issues, queries or worries that you think I can help with.

School of Social Sciences, Media & Communication

Undergraduate: Grace McBride – gam612@uow.edu.au

I am in my 3rd year of a Bachelor of Media and Communication Studies majoring in Journalism. My time at the University has been an amazing experience and I have met incredible people as well as had fun. Overall my studies at UOW have instilled in me a strong passion for promoting high quality media content in Australia and around the world. I am a keen traveller, and plan to head overseas following my graduation in December. I cannot wait to taste new experiences and further my education on how to communicate them with the rest of the world.

Postgraduate: Scott Burrows - sdb03@uow.edu.au

I have a government background in case management and policy and I have also worked in the private sector in social research. I am currently studying my PhD and my thesis is in Sociology and is titled “Youth Employment in the Illawarra 1985-2010: ‘Restructuring’ and its Neo-Liberal Underpinnings.” Please feel free to contact me if you have any issues you wish raised with this School.
