

INDUSTRY EXPERTS SPEAK TO HSC ECONOMICS STUDENTS

Local Year 12 students studying economics have the opportunity to gain valuable tips in their studies for their upcoming HSC. The day will provide students with plenty of information and strategies to assist them in improving their results.

Leading Economics experts taking part include Associate Professor Braham Dabescheck, Senior Fellow Faculty of Law at the University of Melbourne, Ross Gittins, Economics editor for the Sydney Morning Herald, Bronwyn Hession, Senior Education Officer – Office of the Director of Schools, Catholic Schools Office and Tim Riley, Director of Tim Riley Publications and the Economic Literacy Centre.

“We are very fortunate to have such a high calibre of speakers who are industry experts in economic matters,” said Nadia Verrucci, Sub Dean for the Faculty of Commerce.

“The students who attend the day will find it very informative, not only for their HSC and their studies but it will provide insight to current economic status issues and topics. We are really looking forward to meeting the students, their teachers and hopefully will inspire the students to continue to study economics at university next year.”

More than 100 students are expected to attend the HSC Economics Day which is open to all high schools. There will be opportunities to ask questions as well as mingle with current commerce students and check out the campus and its facilities. Lunch is provided to all who attend.

The HSC Economics Day will be held this coming Monday, June 21 from 9.30am until 3.00pm in Building 20. Room 3 (Communications Building opposite the Library).
