Please note that this is a list of the essential readings (texts) for each subject.

You will receive a full Subject Outline for each subject at the Faculty of Law orientation session on Wednesday, 23 Feb 2011. Each outline will contain a list of other recommended readings and resources (including details of the readings required for classes in Week 1).

LLB100 – Foundations of Law A

Ellis E, Principles and Practice of Australian Law (2nd ed, Lawbook Co, 2009) - $85.00

The Australian Constitution. Copies of the Constitution can be accessed in print and electronically from the UOW library. A pocket size hard copy version is available from the UniShop for $4.95.

It is also strongly recommended that you buy a legal dictionary such as:

The LexisNexis Concise Australian Legal Dictionary (LexisNexis Butterworths, 2011) - $69.00

Sydney, 16 September 2010 – LexisNexis® Australia today announced the launch of LexisNexis Butterworths Concise Australian Legal Dictionary (3rd Edition), a software application for iPhone, iPad and iPod touch mobile devices. The new app offers law students, lawyers and the general public the ability to immediately look up more than 7,600 legal words and phrases in any location from their mobile device. The iPhone app is now available on the Apple iTunes Store for purchase at AUD$19.99.

or

The Australian Law Dictionary (Oxford University Press, 2010) - $59.95

NB: This dictionary is available electronically via the UOW Library. However, given the difficulty of consulting this 676 page book in this form you are advised to buy a hard copy.
LLB110 – Legal Research and Writing

Australian Guide to Legal Citation (3rd ed, 2010)

This publication may be downloaded in pdf format (view only) from:

http://mulr.law.unimelb.edu.au/go/AGLC3

However, given the difficulty of consulting this 332 page book in this form you are advised to buy a hard copy. It is very reasonably priced ($26) and will serve you throughout your studies. This is the style adopted for all Law Faculty assignments and submissions.

You should also have an English dictionary and a thesaurus.

LLB120 – Law of Contract A

These books are available from the UniShop as a packaged pair for $238.00

LLB130 – Criminal Law and Process A

Publishing 21 February 2011

Australian RRP $145.00

LLB150 – Communication Skills

No required text – a list of required readings for each week will be made available to all students (the majority of these readings will be available online and/or in hardcopy via the UOW Library).
