

2012 INTERNATIONAL AND COMPARATIVE LAW PROGRAM WOLLONGONG, AUSTRALIA 25TH JUNE – 20TH JULY 2012 CONNECT: UOW

OVERVIEW

For many years, scholars, judges, policy makers and law reformers have engaged in transnational borrowing and co-operation. Traditionally, law students have had few opportunities for gaining equivalent insights. The 2012 International and Comparative Law Program is a unique chance for law students to enhance their legal education by stepping out of their provincial, state, canton and national jurisdictions to address issues of contemporary importance in an international context and from a valuable comparative perspective across Australian, Canadian and Swiss jurisdictions.

COURSE DETAILS

Two courses will be offered, taught in series over the four weeks of the Program:

- International and Comparative Counterterrorism Law
- International and Comparative Criminal Law

The Program will involve visits to legal institutions in Sydney and Canberra, including the High Court of Australia.

The maximum enrolment in the Program is 25 students, drawn from across Swiss, Canadian, Australian and other law schools.

“The staff in the UOW Faculty of Law ‘get it’ – they understand all the experiences that a first year law student is going through and provide several avenues of assistance if need be. Wollongong is in the best location. It is only an hour from the city buzz of Sydney and all its tourist attractions but far enough from the city to get the small town feel. ... Personally, not much beats living 10 minutes from the beach – that almost never happens in Canada!”
Raman Dhaliwal
LLB student at UOW, from Ontario
