INTRODUCING WOLLONGONG COLLEGE AUSTRALIA

Effective from 30 April 2007 Wollongong University College has changed its business name to Wollongong College Australia. This change has been required by amendments to State and Federal Government Protocols which now restrict use of the word university in business names.

As a result the College has also updated its contact information. Our website is now www.wca.uow.edu.au and our email is wca@uow.edu.au

There has been no change to the courses available at the College
