Overview

A Bachelor of Arts degree is one of the traditional and most popular university degrees, though it has changed in shape and content through the years and from country to country. The BA today is made up of subjects with origins in the humanities – history, literature, languages and philosophy. During the nineteenth century the disciplines we now know as the social sciences developed – economics, sociology, psychology, anthropology and geography. While Universities organise themselves in a variety of ways, these and related disciplines are generally included in an Arts degree, even if they are not located in an Arts Faculty.

The Australian pattern of study for a BA has been a focused sequence of subjects that forms a 'major' in a wider pattern of subjects that provide a broader knowledge of humanities and social sciences. The major can take many forms, with the unity and coherence of the degree constructed in one of two ways. The study of a discipline can form the basis of the sequence of studies, giving students a developing set of skills in 'doing' the discipline while they acquire a set of conceptual frameworks and a body of knowledge interpreted using those frameworks. That is, within the study of 'history', students learn how to research and write history as well as how to read what historians have thought about the past. An area of studies can also form the focus of a degree. Asia- pacific studies, science and technology studies and communication studies are three examples of study areas offered at the University of Wollongong. Students learn skills from several disciplines while working on a particular theme or area, for example, history and literature of a region or sociological, political and textual approaches to film.

Major Study Areas from the Faculty of Arts

Aboriginal Studies

Aboriginal Studies is an interdisciplinary major which links together subjects in a number of Programs in the Faculty of Arts as well as subjects offered by the Faculties of Creative Arts, Education, Law, Science and Health and Behavioural Sciences, to provide Aboriginal and non-Aboriginal students with a coherent program in the study of Aboriginal Australia.

Major Study

The major consists of four core subjects offered by the Aboriginal Education Centre together with a choice of subjects offered by participating Programs and Faculties. Because it is anticipated that the number of subjects available in the major will expand, students are advised to consult with the Aboriginal Education Centre about available subjects prior to enrolment.

A major in Aboriginal Studies requires the completion of a minimum of 52 credit points, consisting of at least 12 credit points at 100-level, 16 credit points at 200-level and 24 credit points at 300-level including the four core subjects ABST100, ABST200, ABST300 and ABST301. The core subjects are currently under review. SOC231 and SOC306 are strongly recommended as preparatory subjects, for attempting ABST350 in the final year of the major. Quotas may be applied to entry to the major in Aboriginal Studies, including entry to ABST100.

Double Major

Because Aboriginal Studies subjects are drawn largely from the offerings of a number of Programs and Faculties, it is possible for students to complete a second major. Students are encouraged to look closely at this option, particularly if they are contemplating postgraduate study.

Asia-Pacific Studies

Since the 1980s awareness of the importance of Australia's role in the Asia-Pacific has led to the University of Wollongong giving priority to the study of the region and our place in it. Trade, culture, history, politics, economics and language have all received attention, with particular focus on Southeast Asia and Japan.

The following subjects have been approved for inclusion in the Major in Asia-Pacific Studies because they reflect the particular areas of expertise at the University of Wollongong: the understanding of development in the Asia-Pacific, the interaction of culture, language and politics in the region and intensive study of the Japanese language.

Major Study

A major study in Asia-Pacific Studies for the Bachelor of Arts degree requires the completion of a minimum of 52 credit points from the subjects listed below, including all core subjects. At least 24 credit points must be at 300-level. This interdisciplinary major may be taken as a single major study, but its flexibility makes it a useful component in a double-major. Students should plan their degree programs carefully, bearing in mind the need to satisfy subject prerequisites particularly at 200- and 300-levels.

Australian Studies

Australian Studies is an interdisciplinary course of study. It includes Aboriginal studies, history, politics, literature, media, sociology, science and technology and gender in its ambit. It has been designed to introduce students to the various ways Australian issues are addressed and analysed by a variety of interdisciplinary and disciplinary approaches.

Major Study

A major in Australian Studies consists of a minimum of 52 credit points. The major is made up of the three core subjects: AUST101 or AUST102, AUST246 or HIST 218, and AUST300. The balance of credit points is made up by taking subjects with Australian content offered by the following Programs within the Faculty: Aboriginal Studies, Communication and Cultural Studies, English, History, Politics, Science Technology and Society and Sociology. To complete the major, students will need to take a minimum of 12 credit points at 100-level (AUST101 or AUST102 plus one 100-level subject from the list), a minimum of 16 credit points at 200-level (AUST246 or HIST218 plus one 200-level subject from the list) and a minimum of 24 credit points at 300-level (AUST300 plus two 300-level subjects from the list).

Students should ensure that they have the necessary prerequisites to take the subjects of their choice or have had the prerequisites waived by the Convenor of the relevant Program.

Honours

Those interested in Honours in Australian Studies should consult the Honours co-ordinator of the School of History and Politics. A notice board with information on Australian Studies can be found in the History and Politics corridor on the second floor of the Arts building (Bldg 19).

All students in the subject attend the one lecture group and any one of the subject codes will be accepted in any of the majors containing the subject.

Communication Studies

Communication Studies, as offered in the Communication and Cultural Studies Program is an interdisciplinary study which considers questions of interaction and conversation, text and image, and studies communication industries and communication technologies. While there are some practical components in selected subjects, the approach to Communication Studies is strongly conceptual, situating communication studies in broad social, political, historical and cultural contexts, as well as investigating the ways in which audiences are positioned and meanings are constructed.

Major Study

The Communication Studies major is made up of at least 54 credit points: at 100-level, CCS105 (6 cp); 24 credit points at 200-level and 24 credit points at 300-level. Of the 54 credit points, at least 38 credit points will be in subjects with the CCS prefix. The remaining 16 cp for the major may be made up of CCS subjects or subjects from other units approved for inclusion in the Communication Studies major. At 200-level, 16 cp must be in subjects with the CCS prefix, including either CCS207 or CCS221 (one of these two subjects must be completed). At 300-level, at least 16 credit points will be from subjects with the CCS prefix and must include CCS330. Quotas may be applied to entry to the major in Communication, including entry to CCS105.

Pre-requisites

Entry to all CCS 200-level subjects will require 36 credit points. Entry to CCS 300-level subjects will require 36 credit points including at least 8 credit points at CCS 200-level. Study abroad and exchange students can consult with the Convenor of Program about entry to upper level CCS subjects.

English Language and Linguistics

The English Language and Linguistics (ELL) major provides two orientations: a TESOL (Teaching English to Speakers of other Languages) orientation which can lead to a professional qualification in TESOL if further study is undertaken in the Faculty of Education, and an English for Professional Purposes orientation.

Major Study

A major in English Language and Linguistics for Non-English Speaking Background (NESB) students consists of 58 credit points, and must include 18 cp at 100-level, 16 cp at 200-level and 24 cp at 300-level, as set out below. A major in English Language and Linguistics for English Speaking Background (ESB) students consists of 52 credit points, and must include 12 cp at 100-level, 16 cp at 200-level and 24 cp at 300-level, as set out below. Students who are uncertain whether they should be in the NESB or the ESB stream must consult the ELS co-ordinator.

Note: LING210 is counted towards majors in French, Italian, Japanese and English Language and Linguistics.

English Studies

The English Studies Program provides a dynamic environment for social and cultural debate. The program of study ranges from the Vikings to the Internet, and includes drama subjects, women's writing, textual and cultural theories and British, Australian and post-colonial literatures in their social and cultural contexts. The term "English Studies" describes a range of disciplines relating to the study of textual production. We look at written texts like novels, poems and plays, diaries, newspapers, journals and travel-writing, but also at other kinds of texts, like music, paintings, tapestries, films, television programs and videos, as creative process and cultural product. English is often combined as a double-major with Communication and Cultural Studies, but students may combine it with any other approved Arts major. It is often taken as the Arts major in the Arts/Law double degree and it is an ideal second major for journalism students in the Bachelor of Communication and Media Studies.

In the areas of Theatre and Writing, the Program has close working relationships with the Faculty of Creative Arts and, under certain circumstances and with the approval of the relevant Convenors, students from the English Studies Program may undertake a limited number of subjects offered in the BCA. Similarly, students from the Faculty of Creative Arts may take Literature, Screen and Theatre subjects within the Program.

English for teaching careers: Students intending to teach in primary schools should take two at least English subjects. Students intending to be secondary English teachers need at least 28 credit points of English. In both cases, one of the English subjects will need to contain the word "Literature" in the title. (This regulation is imposed by the NSW Education Department.)

Major Study

A major study in English Studies is made up of at least 54 credit points: 6 at 100-level, 24 at 200-level and 24 at 300-level. Of the 54, at least 46 credit points will be in subjects having the prefix ENGL with at least 6 credit points at 100-level and at least 16 credit points at 300-level having that prefix. The remaining 8 credit points may be made up of ENGL subjects or subjects from other units approved for inclusion in the English Studies major. These subjects are listed at the end of this entry. At 300-level, Pass Conceded or Pass Restricted grades will not accrue credit points towards the major.

A major in French for beginners or near beginners consists of 66 credit points, and must include 18 cp at 100-level, 24 cp at 200-level and 24 cp at 300-level, as set out below. Students who have achieved a strong 2 Unit HSC pass or equivalent may choose to enter the language sequence at the level of FREN251 and complete a 54 cp major comprising 6 cp (civilisation) at 100-level, 24 cp at 200-level and 24 cp at 300-level, as set out below.

All students wishing to enter the French major at the level of FREN251 must obtain formal approval from the French co-ordinator.

Gender Studies

Gender Studies, with its motivating force of women's studies, is just as needed now as it ever was-perhaps in some respects more so-with the increasingly sophisticated and pervasive attempts to persuade the consumer / reader / user that all is equal and, finally, merely a matter of choice. One of the tasks of this major will be to address and redress this notion. It is an area of intense public debate and we seek to equip our students not only to enter into this debate but at some future time perhaps, to lead it.

The major is made up of subjects from the Faculties of Arts, Commerce, Education, Law and Science. It is an interdisciplinary major which recognises that students come from a range of backgrounds and may want to study over a range of areas. There are no core subjects. A number of the subjects in the major deal not only with the impact of being gendered as female, but also with definitions of masculinity and with queer theory, an area of study more commonly associated with sexuality than gender.

Major Study

A major in Gender Studies consists of at least 54 credit points chosen from the following range of subjects (at least 24 credit points must be at 300 level). Students will choose at least five subjects from the list of Specialist Electives, and no more than two from the list of General Electives. Normal pre-requisites apply for the following subjects unless these are waived by the Head of Unit. This applies, in particular, to LAW subjects, for which LAW100 Law in Society is a necessary pre-requisite and will not be waived. Please note: not all subjects will be available in any one year.

History

History offers subjects in social history, the social and political consequence of war, feminist history, revolution and colonialism, representation and history, world history and cultural and labour history. Emphasis lies on Australia, Europe, South East Asia and the Americas. History is offered at all undergraduate levels: 100-level (first year), 200-level (second year) and 300-level (third year). 100-level subjects are each worth 6 credit points, 200-level and 300-level subjects are each worth 8 credit points.

Certain History subjects are well-suited to programs containing a major in Australian Studies and Resource and Environmental Studies.

Major Study

A major in History consists of 52 credit points, 24 of which must be at 300-level. As students progress through the levels of a History major, the subjects offered become more sophisticated in approach.

300-level subjects place greater emphasis on comparative and theoretical aspects of the discipline and encourage students to undertake original research.

Entry into any 200-level history subject requires a pass in at least one of the 100-level subjects. Entry into any 300-level subject requires 14 credit points of history, at least 8 of which must be at 200-level.

Students taking a major in History can count up to 16 credit points from the following: ABST100, ABST150, ABST200, AUST246, FREN210, STS212 and STS238/338 as well as the Politics subjects listed in the table below. Note: students enrolled in a double major may only cross-count one subject.

History & Politics Joint Major

The School of History and Politics also offers a Joint Major for students with an interest in both disciplines. The Major offers students the opportunity to explore two disciplines without the need to complete two separate majors (sometimes known as a Double Major), and it offers students the opportunity to combine the specialist areas offered by the History and Politics Program. The Joint Major consists of a minimum of 76 credit points. A minimum of 38 credit points must be taken from History subjects and a minimum of 38 credit points must be taken from Politics subjects.

Students taking the Joint Major must have completed at least one 100-level subject, one 200-level subject and one 300-level subject drawn from the History schedule and at least one 100-level subject, one 200-level subject and one 300-level subject drawn from the Politics schedule. The balance can be made up from any subjects from 100- to 300-level, providing pre-requisites have been met for the subjects chosen, or the waiving of pre-requisites has been approved by the Convenor of the relevant Program.

Please note: At 300 level, students must complete at least 24 credit points from the History and Politics majors.

Information Studies

This major, using a variety of perspectives, enables students to use, critically analyse, reflect on and transform the rapidly changing information systems in society.

Major Study

A major in Information Studies is an interdisciplinary program of core and optional subjects of between 60 and 76 credit points, depending on the course strands chosen by the student. It includes at least 24 credit points at 300 level. Subjects are drawn from the Faculties of Arts, Commerce, Informatics and Law.

Students must complete all core subjects and the required subjects from two strands. Students may not take BOTH Strand 2 and Strand 4.

(Note: If required subjects in particular strands are not available, please see the coordinator of the major for advice on appropriate alternatives).

Japanese

The major in Japanese is designed with four streams of study dependent upon a student's language proficiency on entry. Students may enter the major as beginners, at post-HSC level, intermediate or advanced level. All students who wish to enter at other than beginners' level must consult with the convenor of the major. The major consists of language and civilization subjects and a period of study in Japan.

Major Study

The major in Japanese has four possible entry points, beginners, post-HSC, intermediate or advanced. For beginners, the major consists of 82 credit points, for Post HSC, 74 credit points, for intermediate, 62, and for advanced students, 54 credit points. A unique feature of this course is the possibility of a period of study in Japan for beginners, post-HSC and intermediate entry students. Intermediate and Advanced stream students are required to successfully complete a placement test.

The Post HSC stream is designed for students having completed either 2 unit or 3 unit Japanese at a NSW high school or equivalent. The beginner's stream assumes no prior knowledge of the language. The Japanese major articulates with NSW TAFE Certificate 3 in Japanese.

The Modern Languages Program has had considerable success in obtaining funding and scholarships to assist with the costs of travel and residence in Japan. However, funding is not guaranteed and students may need to meet the costs associated with travel and accommodation for any periods of study in Japan. Students wishing to study beginner's Japanese but NOT major are encouraged to take JAPA141 in Session 1, or JAPA101 in Summer Session, if available. JAPA102 and JAPA103 are also available for beginners who are interested in basic Japanese for either teaching or business respectively. JAPA110 is available to all students who wish to familiarise themselves with Japanese culture and history but who do not wish to pursue language studies. Another special feature on offer at Wollongong for suitably qualified graduates is one year of study at a Japanese University in JAPA550 for which some generous scholarships are available.

Minor study in Languages other than English (LOTE): Japanese

From 2004, students in the Faculty of Arts will be able to take a Minor consisting of any four sequential subjects in Japanese. The minor will consist of 26 or 32 credit points of language study.

Example: A student beginner could take a Minor by studying JAPA141, JAPA142, JAPA143 and JAPA261.

A student who had studied Japanese to HSC level could take a Minor by studying JAPA161, JAPA162, JAPA261 and JAPA262. Whilst the minor will not be stipulated on the student's testamur at graduation, it will be recorded on the academic transcript.

Philosophy

Do human beings have free will? Is the mind distinct from our physical constitution? Does God exist? Is morality a matter of opinion? These are some of the questions that may be examined in introductory philosophy degrees. Areas of study include ethics, logic, feminism, aesthetics, political philosophy, philosophy of law, philosophy of language, epistemology and metaphysics.

Major Study

A major in Philosophy comprises 52 credit points of PHIL subjects, of which at least 24 credit points are 300-level PHIL subjects (POL211 may be counted in place of one 200-level PHIL subject, or one of POL314 and POL324 may be counted in place of one 300-level PHIL subject, with the approval of the Convenor of Program).

Philosophy studies within the Program divide into two broad streams of study - (1) Ethics, Politics and Law and (2) Knowledge, Mind and Metaphysics. It is recommended to students that they include in their major a spread of subjects across these two streams.

Assessment

Requirements vary from subject to subject and are set out in general terms in each of the subject entries.

It should be noted that, notwithstanding any of these provisions, the Philosophy Program Assessment Committee may, at its discretion, in respect of any subject in which assessment is by a combination of (a) in-session work and (b) end of session or end of year examinations, attach greater weight to (b) than the aggregate of (a) and (b), should the level of performance under (b) disclose significant evidence of improvement in respect of the subject as a whole.

Politics

Political study involves examining the origins and nature of consent, authority and consensus, which underpin social order and without which all other human endeavours would become impossible. As a result political study inevitably involves morality and values but requires a sound knowledge of the political institutions, political economy, cultures, classes, genders, ethnicities and forces for change in the countries under analysis. Politics can occur at many levels from international relations to the nation state, public discourse and social relations, to personal and family relations.

Political studies at the University of Wollongong place considerable emphasis on developing strong theoretical foundations to equip students to analyse the continuing challenges of a Globalising world and their role within it. The discipline places a great deal of importance on the roles of culture and policy in both the developed and developing world.

Major Study

A major in Politics consists of 52 credit points, including at least 24 credit points at 300-level in Politics subjects. Graduates with a Politics major will normally have included at least one subject from each of the following areas in their program: (1) Australian Politics, (2) Political Theory and (3) the Politics of a country other than Australia or Comparative Politics or International Relations.

Although it does not have a politics prefix, HIST210 can be counted as part of the politics major. Students majoring in Politics may also count up to 16 cp from the following subjects: PHIL232, PHIL 270, PHIL 390, SOC 221, SOC 308. Note: students enrolled in a double major may only cross-count one subject.

(Note: Certain Politics subjects can count towards a major in Communication Studies, History or Philosophy. Others are well suited to programs containing a major in Resource and Environmental Studies).

History & Politics Joint Major

The School of History and Politics also offers a Joint Major for students with an interest in both disciplines. The Major offers students the opportunity to explore two disciplines without the need to complete two separate majors (sometimes known as a Double Major), and it offers students the opportunity to combine the specialist areas offered by the History and Politics Programs. The Joint Major consists of a minimum of 76 credit points. A minimum of 38 credit points must be taken from History subjects and a minimum of 38 credit points must be taken from Politics subjects.

Students taking the Joint Major must have completed at least one 100-level subject, one 200-level subject and one 300-level subject drawn from the History schedule and at least one 100-level subject, one 200-level subject and one 300-level subject drawn from the Politics schedule. The balance can be made up from any subjects from 100- to 300-level, providing pre-requisites have been met for the subjects chosen, or the waiving of pre-requisites has been approved by the Convenor of the relevant Program.

Please note: At 300 level, students must complete at least 24 credit points from the History and Politics majors.

Resource & Environmental Studies

Many environmental problems are not technical issues but involve political struggles, ethical choices, human behaviour, economic trade-offs and value conflicts over scientific knowledge.

To tackle these wider social dimensions intrinsic to most environmental issues of concern today, a wide-ranging social analysis is valuable and often essential.

Major Study

A major study in Resource and Environmental Studies for the Bachelor of Arts degree is available by undertaking the following program. It must include at least 24 credit points at 300-level.

A major in Resource and Environmental Studies involves an interdisciplinary combination of core and optional subjects totalling from 70 to 98 credit points, depending on the options chosen. The core is made up of five subjects from Australian Studies, Earth and Environmental Sciences, Science, Technology and Society and Philosophy. Students must also choose optional subject sequences from two of four areas: Science, Technology and Society, Earth and Environmental Sciences, Law or Economics.

Science, Technology and Society (STS)

Modern science and technology underpin almost every feature of our society. They impinge daily upon our lives and shape our futures. Science, Technology and Society is the academic discipline which studies the origin, nature and social impact of science and technology.

To be considered fully educated today, you must have learned to examine for yourself questions such as, 'What are science and technology? Why and how have they grown in Western Societies? How can we best control and direct science and technology?' In the past generation there has been a revolution in our understanding of the answers to these questions. The field of Science, Technology and Society is where this intellectual revolution is taking place. STS has a long and distinguished history in European and North American Universities. In the last twenty-five years it has undergone enormous expansion.

In Australia there are now STS programs at Melbourne, NSW, Murdoch, Griffith, as well as here at Wollongong, where we have one of the longest established programs in the country.

STS can be studied as a major, leading to Honours and PhD programs; as a joint major with another subject (eg with History, Sociology, English, Psychology or Philosophy); or STS subjects can be selected to complement majors in these subjects or in others, such as Science, Economics, Accountancy, Education, Metallurgy and Computing Science.

Major Study

A major in STS is composed of 60 credit points, including at least 52 cp of subjects having the prefix STS. The STS subjects must include:

1. STS100/103/200/203 Social Aspects of Science and Technology OR STS278/378 Scientific and Technological Controversy and
2. at least 24 cp of STS subjects at 300-level.

8 cp may be taken from the following: AUST101; CCS105; CCS334; CCS337; HIST363; PHIL256; PHIL258; PHIL262; PHIL322; POL121; POL224; POL314; SOC104; SOC224 (SOC221 prior to 2003); SOC231; SOC241.

Honours

See Bachelor of Arts (Honours)

Study Program

Many of the STS subjects have multiple versions depending on level, credit points and mode of delivery. Students will need to choose the subject appropriate to their program of study. In general, subject numbers beginning with the number one are for 1st year students, with a two are for 2nd year students and with a three are for third year students.

At 100-level, students must do 6 cp of Sociology subjects at 100-level, including at least one of SOC103 or SOC104.

At 200-level, students must do SOC203 Explaining Society and SOC231 Social Analysis.

At 300-level, students must do 24cp of which 16cp must be in SOC subjects.

STS requirements:

38 cp of STS, including STS100 Social Aspects of Science and Technology or STS278 Scientific and Technological Controversy, with at least 16 cp at 300-level.

Overview

Why does taking part in Anzac Day or preserving a piece of rainforest mean different things to different people? What part is played by the media, government, the community, scientists and industries in dealing with our environmental crisis? These are just a few questions the BA (Community & Environment) addresses.

The BA Community and Environment is unified in two ways:

- Subject content is presented in themes identified by local communities on the South Coast as useful and relevant. These themes are communication; environment; cultural heritage which includes literature, history and Aboriginal studies, and social policy. Australian material is presented within the context of the international scholarly literature.
- Students develop a range of intellectual and technical skills over the years of study. The University of Wollongong has a strong commitment to enabling students to graduate with a wide variety of attitudes, knowledge and skills. This degree has an emphasis on providing students with transferable skills in written and oral communication, problem solving, research and computer applications. Employers are looking for these skills.

Advanced Standing

Information about Approved Credit Transfer Arrangements is available at <http://www.uow.edu.au/handbook/advancedstanding/>

Community & Environment

The BA in community and Environment is a coherent interdisciplinary degree based around a core and electives chosen from a range of subjects offered by the Faculties of Arts, Commerce, Informatics and Science. Some subjects that are also offered on the Wollongong campus will be available in a flexible delivery mode in Nowra, Batemans Bay, Bega and Moss Vale.

Students gain a broad general education with an emphasis on gaining transferable skills in written and oral communication, research and computer applications. While the traditional humanities and social sciences skills of reading to understand, writing essays and making convincing oral presentations are central, so are the related skills of report and submission writing, understanding the use of statistics in arguments and using the new technologies to find and present information.

Students are able to study progressions of subjects with a strong Australian content in the areas of environment, social and public policy, cultural heritage (including Aboriginal studies, history and literature), and communication studies (including film and television).

Major Study

The Community and Environment major is made up of 78 - 80 credit points, consisting of four to five core subjects* at 100-level (24 - 30 credit points), three to four core subjects* at 200-level (24 - 32 credit points) and 24 credit points at 300-level made up of the two core subjects and one elective from the 300-level Arts offerings. The remainder of the degree (64 - 66 credit points) consists of electives chosen from Arts or from the subjects offered from the other degrees offered at the South Coast and Southern Highlands campuses.

Overview

The Dean's Scholars Degree provides an academic space for high-achieving single degree Arts students. With a limited intake of ten students per year, it aims to provide an enriched educational experience for high-achieving, motivated Arts and Humanities students who are hoping to make a contribution to their field of study through teaching or research, or as professionals in Arts or humanities areas. Students have the opportunity to attempt subjects not normally available to first-year students and to perform above the level normally expected at first-year. They may be granted exemption from certain first-year subjects and may be permitted extended subject loads, enabling them to complete the degree in under the normal time and enter Honours in their third year.

Each Dean's Scholar has an academic mentor, a member of academic staff who undertakes to offer advice in the Scholar's major area of study.

The Dean's Scholars degree is not a scholarship. Students intending to apply for a place in this degree are encouraged to apply for a University of Wollongong undergraduate scholarship separately.

Dean's Scholars must undertake one major study from the Faculty of Arts and must maintain an average of 75 in each year of study. If the student's average falls below 75, the student will be transferred into the Bachelor of Arts (UOW Course code 702).

Honours

Students who successfully complete the Bachelor of Arts (Dean's Scholars) Advanced Degree will be accepted into Honours, provided that supervision is available in the Faculty for their proposed thesis topic.

Entry to 400-level (Honours) is determined by a recommendation from the Co-ordinator of the School, following the student's application to the University and the School for admission to the Honours year. The School normally accepts only students whose average grade in their major is at least a high Credit, particularly at 200- and 300-levels. Approved students then enrol in a 48-credit point Honours course, which may be taken as a one-year full-time course, or as a part-time course of up to four consecutive sessions (not including Summer).

Students considering Honours should discuss their undergraduate subject choices with the Honours Co-ordinator for the School as early as possible and especially prior to the commencement of 300 level subjects.

Delivery Mode:	Mostly face-to-face
Starting Session(s):	Normally autumn, but some schools permit mid-year entry

CRICOS Code:	000611F

Overview

The Honours year functions in the university curriculum principally as a bridge between undergraduate study and advanced research. While it does offer, through options, the chance to complete coverage of the discipline, it aims primarily to provide depth of study, developing sophisticated analysis and requiring study in a specialised area of interest as a research project.

Each Program has its unique Honours Course. In all cases, students considering Honours or Joint Honours are encouraged to talk to the School Honours Coordinators well in advance to seek approval for enrolment, discuss their program, and negotiate a thesis topic and supervisors.

Honours is the most direct pathway to further academic research; a class II division 2 (II.2) is the minimum requirement for entry into an MA research or PhD program. As such, the Honours year provides:

- training in research skills, in information systems (archives, the Library, databases, electronic research networks);
- opportunity to practice articulating complex ideas orally and in writing, practice in working closely with a supervisor on a project and in preparing a major project within a deadline;
- experience in devising, researching and writing up an individual topic of study in an extended argument/thesis.

Entry Requirements

Entry to the Bachelor of Arts (Honours) is determined by a recommendation from the Co-ordinator of the School, following the student's application to the University and the School for admission to the Honours year

To qualify for admission to a course leading to a Bachelor of Arts Honours degree a person shall have:

- qualified at this University for the award of a relevant pass bachelor degree, either with merit or in which the 300 level subjects in a relevant major study were completed at an average of Credit grade or better (depending on the requirements of the School or Program); or
- qualified at another tertiary institution for the award of a pass bachelor degree containing a coherent study equivalent to a relevant major study and in which the 300 level subjects, or the equivalent, were completed at the equivalent of an average of Credit grade or better; and
- satisfactorily completed other approved requirements.

Course Requirements

Honours is a 48 credit point program comprising coursework and a research thesis (also referred to as the Honours Project or dissertation). Full time students complete the work in one year and part time students take as long as two years.

Each School has its unique Honours Course. In all cases, students considering Honours or Joint Honours are encouraged to talk to the School Honours Coordinators well in advance to seek approval for enrolment, discuss their program, and negotiate a thesis topic and supervisors.

Grade of Honours

The overall grade of Honours is determined by calculation of the weighted average mark (WAM) for the 400-level subject in which the student is enrolled. Honours is awarded in the following categories:

Class I (WAM 85 to 100%)

Class II, Division 1 (WAM 75 to less than 85%)

Class II, Division 2 (WAM 65 to less than 75%)

Class III (WAM 50 to less than 65%)

If the WAM is below 50%, an honours grade is not awarded.

Major Studies

Advertising and Marketing

This major will provide students with an understanding of markets, and how these may be reached by manipulating the “marketing mix”, the core elements of marketing practice. A focus on the psychology of consumers as decision-makers provides a foundation for the management of the “marketing communication mix”, the various channels through which goods and services are promoted and advertised in the marketplace. The subjects in the stream cover the theory and practice of marketing in both national and international contexts.

These subjects are taught by the Faculty of Commerce.

Major Study

The Advertising and Marketing major is made up of the 56 credit point core and all the following subjects:

Subjects (All subjects are compulsory)	Session	Credit Points
100-level
MGMT110 Introduction to Management and Employment Relations	Autumn/ Spring	6
MARK101 Marketing Principles	Autumn/ Spring	6

Journalism

The Journalism sequence is designed to develop basic journalism skills to complement the conceptual knowledge of media process in the BA Communication & Media Studies program. Instead of looking at journalism from three separate media -- print, radio and television -- the sequence focuses on media convergence based on the practical foundation of generic print media techniques. Students take four core journalism subjects. Teaching approaches focus on learning by doing.

Major Study

The Journalism major is made up of the 56 credit point core and all the following subjects:

Subjects	Session	Credit Points
All subjects are compulsory
200-level
JOUR201 Print Media Reporting	Autumn	8
JOUR202 Feature Writing	Spring	8

JOUR301 Investigative Reporting	Autumn	8
JOUR302 Directed Study /Practice	Spring	8

Media Technology Studies

To navigate in an information-rich environment, the key in the future will be the ability to continually learn to use, critically analyse, reflect on and transform the information systems in place. A crucial part of this is understanding the nature, dynamics and management of media technologies. Challenging the assumption that technologies are neutral and introduced solely on the basis of efficiency or consumer demand, the subjects in this stream explore the ways media technologies are chosen, promoted and contested by competing interest groups.

Major Study

The major in Media Technology Studies is made up of the 56 credit point core and the following subjects:

Subjects	Session	Credit Points
200-level
STS200 Introduction to Science, Technology and Society	Autumn	8
STS228 Computers in Society	Spring	8

CCS335 Electronic Cultures	Spring	8
STS315 Globalisation: Technology, Culture and Media	Autumn	8
STS388 Science and the Media	Autumn	8

Screen Studies

Students specialising in Screen Studies will gain experience in media content analysis, and will be introduced to the history of film and television production in Australia and the United States. In addition, they will become familiar with the key policy and theoretical issues raised by the globalisation of broadcast media. This specialisation will offer students a chance to develop advanced skills in research and critical analysis of the screen media.

Major Study

The major in Screen Studies is made up of the 56 credit point core and the following subjects:
