Honours

To be eligible for the award of Bachelor of Laws (Honours), students MUST:

- (i) complete either LLB313 Legal Research Project A (8 credit points) or LLB314 Legal Research Project B (16 credit points) from the LLB Schedule; and
- (ii) obtain a weighted average mark within the specified ranges.

For further information on honours, refer to the Code of Practice - Honours.

Professional Recognition

On completion of the LLB degree, a student who wishes to practise as a barrister or solicitor must undertake some form of professional practical training, the requirements for which vary between each state and territory of Australia.

In NSW, a student who intends to qualify for admission to practice as a legal practitioner is required to undertake a practical legal training course accredited by the Legal Practitioners' Admission Board, followed by or incorporating a period of practical experience in a law-related setting. The Faculty of Law has established a Legal Practice Unit and its Practical Legal Training Course has been accredited by the Legal Practitioners' Admissions Board. The course has its foundations in the Wollongong LLB. The course is offered over 20 weeks in a flexible mode integrating training with professional experience.

In some instances the course is also available to final year law students, so that they are qualified for admission to practice as soon as they finish their LLB degree.

Other Information

Students who intend to practise as solicitors after admission should obtain further information about restricted practice and the mandatory continuing legal education requirements from the Law Society of NSW. Students who intend to practice as barristers after admission will be required to read with a senior barrister for a period of time and to undertake the Bar Readers' Course before being qualified to take briefs on their own account. Further information is available from the NSW Bar Association.

Overview

Students commencing University study directly from school must enrol in a double degree course with the Bachelor of Laws. Study in another academic discipline allows students to recognise how law functions in social, economic, technical, environmental and scientific contexts. The BA/LLB degree offers a range of choices to those interested in humanities and social sciences, and includes modern languages.

For the first three years of the double degree, students enrol substantially in subjects offered by the Faculty of Arts combined with a small number of Law subjects. In the final two years of the degree, students enrol exclusively in Law subjects, including a range of law elective options.

Overview

Students commencing University study directly from school must enrol in a double degree course with the Bachelor of Laws. Study in another academic discipline allows students to recognise how law functions in social, economic, technical, environmental and scientific contexts. The BCM/LLB degree will provide those students interested in media law with an overview of the industry, its practices and policies. It also provides a solid foundation for students interested in politics or government.

For the first three years of the double degree, students enrol substantially in subjects offered by the Faculty of Arts combined with a small number of Law subjects. In the final two years of the degree, students focus on Law subjects.

Entry Requirements / Assumed Knowledge

The BCA/LLB degree allows students to combine studies in the creative arts, such as creative writing, graphic design, sound, composition, performance or visual arts with studies in law. Many lawyers find that a knowledge of the arts and media is extremely useful in their practice.

For the first three years of the double degree, students enrol substantially in subjects offered by the Faculty of Creative Arts combined with a small number of Law subjects. In the final two years of the degree, students enrol exclusively in Law subjects, including a range of law elective options.

Overview

Students commencing University study directly from school must enrol in a double degree course with the Bachelor of Laws. Study in another academic discipline allows students to recognise how law functions in social, economic, technical, environmental and scientific contexts. The BE/LLB degree allows students to recognise how law functions in technical contexts.

For the first four years of the double degree, students enrol substantially in subjects offered by the Faculty of Informatics combined with a small number of Law subjects. In the final two years of the degree, students enrol exclusively in Law subjects, including a range of law elective options.
