An international outlook, interdisciplinary programs and the intellectual stimulation of teachers, supervisors and fellow students are an integral part of UOW’s Faculty of Law. Our coursework programs blend practical skills with an international perspective, while our Masters programs provide a combination of research and practical techniques to provide the flexibility to meet your vocational needs. Graduates of our Doctoral and Masters programs are now engaged in influential positions in courts, government agencies, private firms and universities throughout Australia, the Asia – Pacific and the Middle East. UOW Faculty of Law is one of Australia’s leaders in postgraduate legal research, with strengths in:

- Law & society
- Ocean resources and security
- Comparative law in the Asia – Pacific
- Transnational crime prevention

The Faculty has attracted highly qualified staff from universities in Australia and overseas, as well as from the practice of Law. The specialised staff of the Law Library can help students with database searches and retrieval of other information, using online and hard copy resources. As a student of law and legal studies, you will greatly benefit from recent advances in legal education in Australia and beyond, which have influenced the design of the courses and their components. Our postgraduate students also organise interdisciplinary seminars around areas of common interest, which stimulate lively debate among staff and other students.

For more information on the Faculty of Law: www.uow.edu.au/law
For information on specific courses and subjects available in the Faculty: www.uow.edu.au/handbook/current/pg/law

AUSTRALIAN NATIONAL CENTRE FOR OCEAN RESOURCES AND SECURITY (ANCORS)
www.ancors.uow.edu.au

ANCORS is Australia’s only multi-disciplinary university-based centre dedicated to research, debate and education on national and international ocean law, security and cooperation, and natural marine resource management. Its mission is to provide high quality research, education, training and advice on oceans governance and maritime security. ANCORS has forged links with a range of government and non-government agencies, including a long-term relationship with the Royal Australian Navy and various Australian Commonwealth Government Departments. Research interests include ocean law; oceans policy and management; marine environmental law and management, including resource issues (especially fisheries); maritime security and strategy; and shipping.

CENTRE FOR TRANSNATIONAL CRIME PREVENTION
www.uow.edu.au/law/ctcp

The Centre for Transnational Crime Prevention works at the cutting edge of regional research on policing, crime prevention and investigation in Australia and the Asia – Pacific region. As traditional national borders become less of a barrier to criminals, everyday policing is being internationalised, especially in tackling crimes that impact on regional security. The increasing sophistication of multi-jurisdictional crime requires an equally sophisticated response, employing new knowledge, multi-disciplinary skills, technology, mandates and lines of communication.

CENTRE FOR COMPARATIVE LAW & DEVELOPMENT STUDIES IN ASIA AND THE PACIFIC
www.uow.edu.au/law/clsdap

LEGAL INTERSECTIONS RESEARCH CENTRE
www.uow.edu.au/law/LIRC
RESEARCH DEGREES

DOCTOR OF PHILOSOPHY (PHD)
CRICOS 028400J

Duration 3 years

MASTER OF LAWS – RESEARCH
MASTER OF MARITIME STUDIES – RESEARCH
CRICOS 042525A, 042537G, 045472G

Duration 1–1.5 years

Starting sessions Autumn/Spring

Entry requirements Listed on page 18.

COURSEWORK DEGREES

Please refer to page 21 to find out how the qualifications and marks obtained in your country equate to the general entry requirements shown below.

DELIVERY MODE

Course work programs may be available in one or two modes, “On campus” OR “Flexible”

On campus
Students undertake a tailored program, including intensive classes of 2–3 days per subject delivered in one block per semester. These intensive blocks are supplemented by flexible components including videoconferencing, student workplace classes; and print, video and audio material. Students receive a tailored program of continuous engagement with staff and fellow students.

Students selecting the “on campus” mode are required to attend campus throughout the session.

Flexible
Students can study on a part-time basis, and are required to be on campus for periods of intensive teaching. Students undertake other course components independently.

Students resident outside Australia may select the ‘flexible’ mode, and should apply for a tourist visa for attendance at intensives. Students in Australia on other visa classes may also be able to undertake study in flexible mode. Student visa holders may not select the “flexible” delivery options.

MASTER OF TRANSNATIONAL CRIME PREVENTION
CRICOS 037086F

Duration 1 year (48cp)

GRADUATE CERTIFICATE IN TRANSNATIONAL CRIME PREVENTION
CRICOS 037085G

Duration 6 months (24cp)

Starting sessions Autumn/Spring

Delivery mode On-campus or flexible.

Entry requirements Students should be graduates or have extensive relevant experience at a high level.

This groundbreaking course is designed for students from law enforcement agencies and private sector, including police, customs, anticorruption, immigration, banking, finance, accounting and other institutions from Australia, the Asia – Pacific region and beyond.

Students take a range of subjects that will provide them with the knowledge and skills to be effective in a complex, multi-jurisdictional environment that requires cooperation between government and private organisations.

ARTICULATION

Successful completion of the Graduate Certificate in Transnational Crime Prevention will guarantee entry into the Masters program, which can be completed with a further four subjects.

Core Subjects
- Issues in Comparative Criminal Justice
- Studies in International Criminal Law

Elective Subjects
- Cyber Crime
- Financial Investigations
- International Corporate Crime
- Major Research Project (12cp)
- Security Intelligence and Policy
- International Cooperation and Transnational Crime
- Issues in Transnational Organised Crime
- Minor Research Project
- Special Studies in Transnational Crime
- Terrorism and Counter Terrorism
- Transnational Financial Crime

Graduate Certificate students choose from the above, with the exception of Minor Research Project & Major Research Project.
Master of Laws (Criminal Prosecutions)*
CRICOS 067078B
Duration 1 (48cp)
Graduate Certificate in Law (Prosecutions)
CRICOS 059880B
Duration 6 months (24cp)
Starting sessions Prospective full-time students should contact the Faculty by emailing law@uow.edu.au
Delivery mode On-campus or flexible.
Entry requirements A degree in Law from a recognised institution, or be admitted to practise as a barrister or solicitor.

Articulation
These courses are fully articulated. Students completing the Graduate Certificate can attain the Graduate Diploma by completing a further 24cp of subjects. Graduates of the Graduate Diploma can complete the Masters degree with an additional 24cp.

Course Structure
Masters students complete the Prosecutions Research Project (12cp) and, subject to their availability, choose ten 6cp elective subjects from the following list. Masters and Graduate Diploma students may replace two electives with the 12cp Research Paper in Prosecutions.

- Applied Criminal Law
- Advanced Criminal Evidence
- Advocacy Practice
- International Law & Criminal Jurisdiction
- International Development in Civil Rights
- Studies in Transnational Crime & Transnational Criminal Law
- Cooperation in International Criminal Justice
- Introduction to Common Law Systems†
- International Humanitarian Law
- Prosecuting Cybercrime
- Comparative Criminal Justice
- Prosecuting Transnational Economic Crime
- Military Prosecutions
- Technical & Forensic Evidence
- Special Studies in Prosecutions
- Research Paper in Prosecutions (12cp)
- Prosecutorial Practice
- Court Practice
- DNA for Lawyers
- Experts and their Evidence

* subject to approval
† non-common-law students only.
not available to students enrolled in the Graduate Certificate.

Graduate Diploma students choose eight subjects from those above. Graduate Certificate students follow a program of four subjects.

Master of Maritime Studies
CRICOS 042637D
Duration 1 year (48cp)
Starting sessions Autumn/Spring
Delivery mode On-campus
Entry requirements Recognised Bachelor degree or equivalent, or an appropriate professional background.

The program is designed to meet the professional development requirements of those working in maritime fields, such as navies, relevant government departments and agencies, NGOs and the private sector; or those who intend to pursue a career in a maritime or related field.

The program of study is multi-disciplinary, providing a broad understanding of the maritime studies/policy field, whilst also allowing students to specialise in areas corresponding to the Australian National Centre for Ocean Resources & Security research strengths, including maritime law, ocean policy, the environment and security.

Master of Maritime Policy
CRICOS 017740B
Duration 1 year (48cp)
Starting sessions Autumn/Spring
Delivery mode Flexible
Entry requirements Recognised Bachelor degree or equivalent, or an appropriate professional background.

The Master of Maritime Policy is for those working in the field of maritime policy or maritime transport. It provides multidisciplinary, professionally relevant academic training for a variety of different policy analysts, including advisers in government, the private sector and NGOs.

Students complete two prescribed 8cp subjects: Law of the Sea and Comparative Oceans Policy. In addition, students complete 4 subjects from the list of electives, which includes topics in: Strategy and Sea Power; Maritime Regulation and Enforcement; Legal Regulation of Shipping; Maritime Security Law and Policy; Contemporary Maritime Issues in the Asia – Pacific Region; International Marine Environmental Law; Special Topic in Maritime Studies; Research Project in Maritime Studies; Minor Thesis in Maritime Studies (16 cp); Integrated Marine and Coastal Management; International Fisheries Law; Marine and Coastal Resources Management.

Graduate Diploma in Legal Practice
CRICOS 030380A
Duration 20 weeks (48cp)
Starting sessions Autumn/Spring
Delivery mode Flexible
Entry requirements A University of Wollongong LLB degree, a Diploma in Law from the Legal Practitioners Admission Board, or a Law degree from an accredited tertiary institution, including the successful completion (pass level) of the equivalent of the University’s skills training and legal profession studies subjects (or equivalent studies in legal ethics, legal skills training, and professional experience).

Course Dates 2010:
Course 1: 18 January – 4 June 2010
Course 2: 21 June – 5 November 2010

The Graduate Diploma in Legal Practice (GDLP) provides law graduates and students in their final year of law with the opportunity to complete, by flexible learning delivery mode, the requirements to be admitted as a legal practitioner in NSW.

All subjects in this program are offered by flexible delivery, combining on-campus weekend residential programs with distance education, and integrating practical training and professional experience. The program incorporates electronic learning, group workshops and seminars. Course activities relate to work undertaken at the placement or employment site and develop students’ knowledge and understanding of current legal practice.

Professional Recognition
The Legal Practitioners Admission Board recognises this course for graduates applying for admission as legal practitioners in NSW.

Refer to the Faculty of Law Legal Practice Unit at www.uow.edu.au/law/plt for details before lodging this application.

Fees
For a full schedule of fees, please turn to pages 67–71.