Objective

The Publication Excellence Award is intended to reward and encourage outstanding achievement in the publication of scholarly articles or books. Specifically, it will reward the publication of material in high quality/impact journals of international reputation or prestigious research book publication.

Eligibility Criteria

Only refereed journal articles and authored research books will be eligible for this award. The work must be published in the designated year of the award and evidence of the publication and citation impact should be provided. Candidates can either self-nominate or be nominated by another academic staff member.

Assessment

An FRC sub-committee will make a decision based on results in the Publication Reward Scheme.

Award

The award of $1,000 to be deposited into the candidate's teaching and research account. The successful candidate will also be awarded a research plaque at the annual Faculty Award night.
GUIDELINES

1. To be eligible for this scheme, candidate’s publications must be registered on the Research Information System (RIS) and be submitted in the annual UOxW publication collection.

2. Only refereed journal articles and authored research books will be eligible for reward. The FRC reserves the right to review publications for what it considers to be self-published or ‘pay for publication’ manuscripts.

3. Publications must be published in the year of assessment.

4. Provide any details of quality indicators of published journal articles or of ‘Best Paper’ awards relating to the publication.

5. Candidates can either self-nominate or be nominated by another academic staff member.