In their 30-plus year history, Australian Rotary Health (ARH) has channelled more than $33 million into research projects, benefitting from the support of over 1,150 Rotary Clubs and 38,000 Rotarians throughout Australia. ARH is now calling for Expressions of Interest (EOI) for their 2017 round of Mental Health Research Grants.

ELIGIBILITY REQUIREMENTS
To be eligible for funding, research projects must be conducted within Australia at a recognised university, hospital or research institute, and projects must focus on the mental health of young Australians (aged 0 - 25 years). These grants are available to Australian Citizens, Australian Permanent Residents and New Zealand Citizens.

FUNDING AVAILABLE
Research grants are valued at up to $70,000 per annum + GST for 1, 2, or 3 years. (However, for 2017, ARH encourages applications for 1 or 2 year grants).

Please Note:
- Grant monies may not be used to fund any University administration/infrastructure fees
- Funding cannot be used to pay a salary to a PhD scholar
- Funding cannot be used to pay a salary to the Principal Investigator named on the application, only Co-investigators
- However, ARH stresses that budgets are not to be discussed at the EOI stage

SUBMISSION INSTRUCTIONS
Five (5) copies of your EOI should be posted to Australian Rotary Health through UOW’s Research Services Office (RSO). The RSO is also required to email one copy of your EOI to Australian Rotary Health.

MORE INFORMATION
Applicants whose EOI is short-listed will be requested to submit a full application in June 2016.

For more information, including Applicant Guidelines and EOI Form, please visit the Australian Rotary Health website.

SUBMISSION DEADLINES
Both hard and soft copies need to be received by Australian Rotary Health by Friday, 27th May. Those intending to apply should complete a UOW External Research Grants Submission Form and provide a draft for review to Lucas Hughes by Wednesday, 18 May.
