

Vacancies for Clinical Members on Human Research Ethics Committees

Expressions of interest are invited from clinicians interested in joining the joint ISLHD/University of Wollongong Health and Medical Human Research Ethics Committee.

Committee members receive training in ethical review and have the opportunity to debate challenging issues to help protect the rights and wellbeing of research participants and promote ethical research.

Applicants should possess an ability to communicate well, be comfortable using email and reading online. Experience with research is desirable. The Committee meets one afternoon a month; lunch and afternoon tea are provided. A pool of clinical members is being established to allow membership to be on a part time basis. In 2017 the meetings will be divided between the University and at Wollongong Hospital.
